

Meeting has never been easier

Conference Call Service

HotAir Conferencing is a fast growing, plain speaking Australian conference call service provider.

Our customers include some of the largest corporations and government departments through to the smallest associations. They choose HotAir because they are tired of paying high prices or they need a conference call service they can depend on.

So, whether you are looking for great prices, a company that is easy to work with or a special application, we probably have the right service for you . . . and we say probably because we really do believe in plain speaking. That's why over a third of our new customers are through word of mouth.

Easy to use

It's easy to start or join a conference call, just dial a telephone number, enter a PIN and start talking!

No booking

Hold your meeting with up to 30 lines at any time without making a booking. If you think you might need more lines, tell us.

Record the meeting

Record the conference call and download the recording minutes after the meeting ends. If someone missed the meeting, just email them the link to download the recording. Most companies charge between $50 and $100 for making a recording and listening to it. With HotAir a recording is FREE.

Excellent sound quality

Effective meetings require everyone to be heard clearly. That's why unlike other low cost services we use the highest grade telephone lines, not the internet or discount phone services. With HotAir Conferencing, you can be sure the sound quality will always be good, making your conference calls more productive.

A service you can depend on

HotAir uses the same ultra reliable equipment as the world's largest teleconference service providers. This means that you can be sure the service will always be available when you need it. So whether the conference call is internal or with your most important clients you can depend on HotAir.

It works . . .

Most conference call services don't help callers who can't enter the P.I.N. code. Callers on mobile phones or joining from smaller offices with older telephone systems may not be able to join your teleconference.

HotAir is different, we know this happens from time to time, so we are there to assist.

How am I charged?

There are no set up fees or ongoing charges and you only pay for what you use. Each conference call is charged per line per second (most providers will charge you more by rounding up to the nearest minute).

Invoices are sent once per month by email and show the connect time and cost of every line that was in every conference. This makes it possible to assign costs to departments or projects or just confirm you have been billed correctly.

How can HotAir be cheaper without cutting corners?

HotAir is much cheaper than the other business grade (meaning reliable) services because we were created from the beginning to have low overheads. In the same way that Virgin Blue uses the same aircraft, airports and fuel as Qantas, we use the same type of equipment and phone lines as our largest rivals.

HotAir is cheaper because we don't have layers of managers and have invested in automating our routine back office tasks. This means that not only can we offer a dependable service at low prices, it also means that when you telephone us, you can expect to be answered within seconds by someone that knows what they are talking about!

What does it cost?

The charge is calculated per line per second, so the more lines in the meeting and the longer it lasts, the more the conference call will cost. You will only pay for what you use and there is no flag-fall or setup cost.

A typical teleconference taking place during business hours, that lasts 60 minutes with 5 lines all dialling a 1800 (toll free) number will cost $75.00 +

GST. This is approximately half what the other companies providing business grade (reliable) meetings would charge.

Can I have more than one account?

If you have more than one person/department that needs to hold conference calls you can give them all their own conference facility.

This is much easier for you to manage and makes it easier to track costs.
